With You.

The green old road that winds and dips Close to the river's laughing lips, The ragged rushes rising rank In verdure on the bare, brown bank, The lingering lights that softly break In dying beauty on the lake, All these make magic memories start And paint a picture in my heart.

The river's roll, the lowland's bend,
The soft sky, sailing like a friend,
That white star climbing up alone,
The water's mellow monotone,
The beautiful belt of yellow light That binds the dusky waist of night, That tender time of melting mist When day and night in silence kissed—All these that heavenly hour renew When first my heart went out to you, The last, bright blush the sunset gave Was slowly sinking in the wave, The twilight shadows shook their hair Loose on the bosom of the air, Across the water, zephyr-fanned,
The light boat rocked away from land,
And sailing for the waiting west That same star throbbled upon her breast!

Straight through some strange, sweet, golden gate,
Our two hearts drifted to their fate.
Beloved, my whole soul bloomed for you As flowers unclose to gather dew; Your heart-touch to my spirit-palm Brought purer pulse and hotter calm; You lifted me to heights divine;
You steeped life's sacred wine; You took Love's lens, and looking through,
Drew all my heart and soul to you.

Some day, while walking hand in hand Through life's love-lighted, hazy land, We each of us (come soon or late) Will stand before time's sunset gate.
The evening light upon the wave Will shine—the glow-worm on the grave—The bright boat looked for unseen shores
Will have strange angels at the oars, And straight into the dying west Our souls must sail at God's behest.

L'ENVOI

Oh! star of stars, oh! light of light, God grant this crowning dear delight, That fearless through his boundless blue My miller's soul may sail with you—MARGARET HUNT BRISBANE, in November Cosmopolitan.

To Meet Mrs. Roosevelt.

Now that the horse show is over, the most of the social world passes at once to the approaching visit of the President's wife, Mrs. Roosevelt, and the interesting anticipation of the first appearance of the first lady of the American Republic in Richmond.
The portion of the community which has been freshly renewed by the visit of the President's wife, and the anticipation of the first appearance of the first lady of the American Republic in Richmond.

The library, with its rich red hangings, will have its effect heightened by tall vases of American flowers. In the reception parlors, where lighter tones prevail, the pink of the La France will develop a harmonious color scheme. In Mrs. Montague's private drawing room the old blue will contrast prettily with white carnations and mignonette ferns.
Several hundred invitations have been sent out to representative society women in Richmond by the hostess, and the oc-casual will be signified by the dignity and grace that have always characterized executive matters under Mrs. Montague's regime.

The mansion, in its day, has witnessed many notable gatherings. History will repeat itself once again when Mrs. Montague and the women of Richmond gather to welcome the wife of the President and to sustain the prestige of their native State for ready and sincere cordiality and hospitality.

Mrs. Montague will be assisted in receiving by a few of her intimate friends.
It being deemed most expedient to limit the size of the party doing the honors.

It is needless to say that the company will be brilliant, in so far as elegance in toilets go. The mistress of the Virginia State mansion, who always displays fine taste in such matters, will set the pace, which others will be quite ready and willing to follow.

Miss Penn's Engagement.

Mr. and Mrs. James G. Penn, of Dan-

MISS JANE PENDLETON MCCARTHY.

Miss McCarthy is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. McCarthy, and has been appointed sponsor to the Confederate Reunion in Petersburg.
She is a graduate of the Woman's College and a highly accomplished and charming daughter of a brave Confederate soldier.

ville, Va., announces the engagement of their daughter, Anne Lee, to Mr. Carroll Henderson Montague, of Richmond.

Miss Penn, who is quite as much admired in Richmond as in Danville, where she has been a belle and a society leader, since her debut, was the guest of honor at a dinner given on Monday last by Mrs.
Benjamin Nash, of No. 89 West Main Street, this city.

Miss Penn was an exquisite French creation of lilac mull and satin, embroidered in violets. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Beth Lorton, Miss Jane Adler, Miss Hatcher, Mr. Carroll Henderson Montague, Mr. Henry Cunningham and Mr. Robert Williams.

Mr. Montague is the son of Mr. J. J.
Montague, is a social favorite in Richmond, and is connected in business with the Montague Manufacturing Company.

The announcement carries with it widespread and unusual interest.

Downes—Morris.

Grove Avenue Baptist Church will be the scene of a beautiful green and white wedding on Wednesday, October 18th, at 6 o'clock P. M., when Miss Elizabeth James Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
James Albert Morris, will be married to Mr. Albert Simkin Downes, of Cape Charles, Va. The Rev. Dr. John Rosser, who is Dr. Hawthorne's assistant, will perform the ceremony.

Miss Verna Littlepage, of King William, will be maid of honor, and Mr. Maurice Garrison, of Cape Charles, will be best man. The ushers are to be Messrs.
George N. Saunders, of Sabot, Va.; Joseph H. Russell, Logan D. Walford, Henry B. Thompson, L. K. Shepherd and Alexander Gregory, of King William.

Little Miss Noel Morris, sister of the bride, will be ring-bearer.
The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Albert Morris, of No. 114 North Seventh Street. She has a sweet, high soprano voice, which has been much complimented here and elsewhere. She was at one time a member of Centenary Methodist Church choir.

The groom belongs to the Downes family of Cape Charles, who are very prominent in that section, and is the son of Mrs. Alice Downes. He is connected with the New York Pennsylvania and Norfolk Railroad.

The bride will entertain a few of her friends on the evening before the wedding.

Dyson—Gregory.

Another interesting wedding of the week is that of Miss Annie Myra Gregory, daughter of Mrs. A. M. Gregory, to Mr. Martin Hewell Dyson, the ceremony to take place at the home of the bride, No. 25 South Adams Street, on Tuesday, October 17th, at 8 o'clock in the morning.

The Rev. Dr. Charles S. Gardner, of Grace Street Baptist Church, will be the officiating clergyman.

Miss Eunice Gregory, sister of the bride, will be maid of honor, and Mr.
William Mount Joy will be best man. The couple will tour the North and will be at home after November 1st, at No. 25 South Adams Street.

Grubbs—Evans.

Miss Rosalie Evans, daughter of Major W. McK. Evans, will be married Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock to Mr.
Joseph Henry Grubbs.

The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Father Massey, of the Sacred Heart Church, in the home of the bride, No.
1612 Grove Avenue. Miss Helen Evans, sister of the bride, will be maid of honor, and Mr. Fred C. Cary will be best man.

The bride is the attractive daughter of Major Evans, and has many friends in the city. The groom is the son of the late Mr. Henry Grubbs and Mrs. M. M.
Grubbs, and holds a responsible position with the firm of E. A. Saunders & Co.

Hill—Morrisette.

A wedding of interest to a large circle of friends will be that of Miss Mattie Estelle Morrisette, daughter of Professor Ella Morrisette, to Mr. William Henry Hill. The wedding will take place in the home of the bride, No. 2208 East Grace Street, on Tuesday, October 17th, at 11 o'clock. The Rev. Dr. M. Ashby Jones, of Leigh Street Baptist Church, will perform the ceremony.

Miss May Hill, of Culpeper, will be maid of honor, and Mr. W. J. Hill, of Charlottesville, will be best man.

The groom is a prominent young lawyer of Culpeper, and is a partner of Judge Jeffries. He is the son of Mr. J.
Polk Hill.

Carter—Pendleton

The wedding of Miss Mary Washington Pendleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Charles Kinbrough Pendleton, to Dr.
Henry Rose Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs.
Hill Carter, will be celebrated at 7:30 P. M., October 18th, in the Baptist Church at Ashland, Va., the Rev. Mr. Seaman, of the Christian Church, and the Rev.
Dr. Pitt, of the Baptist Church, to officiate.

Miss Elizabeth Pendleton will be maid of honor, and Mr. Clarence Carter the best man. Little Miss Anne Hopton Host will attend the bride as ring-bearer.

A pretty group of bridesmaids will take in Miss Mary Hawes Tyler, of Greenwich, Va.; Misses Susan Leake, Jane McCarthy, and Jessie French, of Richmond; Misses Belle Harris and Sara Gardner, of Louisa; Miss Susie Rawlings, of Fredericksburg, and Miss Daisy Goodman, of Orange. The groomsmen will be Messrs. John Pinder and Joe Taylor, of Richmond; Newton Vaughan, Stony Dowell, Weldon Blanton, Drewery Kerr, Charles Carter, of Ashland, and Madison Pendleton, of Tazewell, Va.

The wedding will be a most interesting event socially in Richmond, where Miss Pendleton and Dr. Carter have scores of friends and relatives, and in Ashland.
The bride is a descendant of the Washington, Pendleton and other distinguished Virginia families; the groom's name is one of the most historic, and he is a nephew of the celebrated United States naval surgeon, Dr. Henry Carver.

A very charming bit of sentiment is connected with the wedding ring that Dr.
Carter is now having made for his bride.
In 1899 the United States government sent an exploring party into the Alaskan In-

Hats of Latest Vogue

For Every Type of Face.

WITH late Paris models for new inspirations, and with the rush of business incident to the past week's great event, "The Horse Show," our Milliners have been turning out Hats in great numbers. Streams of fresh beauty kept flowing in all week—until now the assortments are at their limit of best, affording unequalled opportunity for selections of styles, individually becoming.

There are: Hats in gray—the nickel and platinum shades, and the darker smoke gray, termed furnace. Hats in green—the new olive, moss green and myrtle. The new purples—the exquisite American Beauty and Jacqueminot tones. The new reds—Burgundy and Rembrandt. Various fashionings of felt, lace and velvet, with trimmings of plumes, paradise, wings, breasts and birds, and the gleam of gold and silver that echo and re-echoes the Empire.

Shapes are graciously varied—becomingness is the key-note.

Prices Range from $5. to $35.

But the Showing In

Street and Dress Hats

Winter Styles in Suits and Coats

If aught of Fashion in Women's Suits or Coats is lacking in this section, it is yet some undeveloped whim—all the authentic styles are here, in the practical and the elaborate modes.

We believe, and our belief is based upon the rapidity with which these Suits and Coats are selling, that our values are BEST. We would have you put this statement to the test—test by comparison. We feel confident that the more critical the inspection and comparison the more pronounced would be the superiority of our values.

As specimens for this test by comparison we would select, among other numbers, these:

CHEVIOT SUITS, in black and navy; semi-fitting box-coats, button double-breasted style; notched collar of velvet, lined with satin.
Platted skirts, composed of nine gores..... $12.50

MIXTURE, the coat cut 50-inch length, buttons through and is fashioned Princess style; with plaits on front and back that run from shoulder seam to bust line. Very full platted skirts. The coat is satin lined..... $17.50

BROADCLOTH SUITS, in black, blue and green. Coats cut in the stylish 30-inch length, full tight-fitting models with strapped seams, an inlay of velvet on the shawl collar trimmed with braid and buttons, with corresponding treatment at cuffs. The skirts are platted models, fashioned of twenty-one gores..... $25.00

HANDSOME SUITS OF PAN-MA, in dark blue and black; the 50-inch coat is a glove-fitting model made with shawl collar of Panne lined..... $40.00

Velvet and Velvet Cuffs. Skirts designed with cluster plaits. Coat lined to waist with taffeta. A model forming an ideal "fall occasion" suit, being serviceable yet essentially dressy..... $28.50

A HANDSOME MANNISH

Many Extra Values.

What we wish to impress most emphatically in this section is our ability to excel in value-giving (price-making). For so early in the season, such values as we quote here are most unusual; but nothing succeeds like success, and our success in this section was acquired by just such values as these. The margin of profit is small—exceedingly so—but the volume of sales brings up a most satisfactory average.

$5.00 COVERT COAT in the popular three-quarter length. A double-breasted, collar-less, semi-fitting model; fashioned with Double straps down each side and belt in back; patch pockets; touches of velvet on collarless and cuffs, furnished with braid to lend effectiveness. Now could a five-dollar bill be invested to better advantage?

$6.38 A SEVEN-EIGHT LENGTH collarless Model, in a men's wear mixture of gray and tan (herringbone weave) fly front, pleated back, with strap belt.

$7.98 AN EMPIRE MODEL in blue and light and dark gray Melton, a double-breasted style with notched coat collar. All seams lapped.

$12.50 NOBBY LOOSE COAT of hard-twisted tan covert double-breasted, fly front, collarless model, cluster of five tailored straps down center back; the collarless is lined with stitched velvet, outlined by silk. Yoke and sleeves satin lined.

$18.00 A NEW PADDOCK Model in covert of a handsome herringbone weaves, fly front, notched collar, strictly man-tailored and finished—satin lining in sleeves and to waist.

$22.50 AN EMPIRE MODEL fashioned with box plaits and inverted plaits falling from yoke on front and back, fastens double-breasted style with large metal buttons, notched velvet collar and cuffs, lining to waist and in sleeves.

$25.00 A VERY DRESSY COAT in an easy loose Model suggestive of the Empire made of extra fine quality broadcloth in black and tan; designed with a polished cape elaborately embroidered in silk braid, huge sleeves and deep, fanfully designed cuffs, altogether trimmed with the silk braid, lined throughout with good quality satin, a garment dressy enough for evening wear, yet serviceable and practical withal.

$30.00 EMPIRE MODEL in broadcloth, made with box plaits front and back, falling from a yoke defined by silk braid, the braid also trims the collarless and cuffs and edges the fronts of coat, full length, cuffs, lined to waist and in sleeves.

$38.50 AN EMPIRE MODEL in very light-weight black Kersey, very effectively trimmed—a tapering panel of silk braid down center of back (full length) applied in final effect, with corresponding treatment at shoulders, around neck and pockets, the edges of fronts piped with velvet and with open shows a coloring of pascamenterie, satin lined throughout.

Furs: Of Unusual Merit.

The point of prime importance to every intending purchaser is the reliability as to quality and style. The shortest cut to this, and the safest medium, is to select a reliable store.
